/ BIO

Avery Andon is a Miami-based art dealer, entrepreneur and philanthropist, best known for developing Alec Monopoly into a global name, with sold-out exhibitions from New York to Morocco and brand partnerships that established him among the world's most profitable street artists.

An innovator of online art sales, he launched ArtLife.com in 2015 as one of the first online-only blue-chip galleries, and coined "Click & Mortar" for its model of social-first marketing plus curated pop-ups. An early champion of Hebru Brantley and Jammie Holmes, he advises celebrities, collectors and companies on art. He hosts ArtLife with Avery Andon, and supports UCLA Mattel Children's Hospital, MindUP, City Seats with the New York Yankees, WildAid and the Amazon Conservation Team.
